A detailed LEGO Technic model of a building, likely a house or workshop. The structure is built using a variety of LEGO Technic parts, including beams, plates, and connectors. The main body is constructed from grey and white Technic beams, with a large window area on the left side. The window is made of clear blue Technic glass and is framed by grey and white beams. To the right of the window is a door made of grey and white beams. The roof is built with grey and white beams, and there are several small windows or openings. The base of the building is made of green and yellow Technic plates. The overall design is intricate and shows a high level of detail.
