Welcome To 123 Sesame Street!

In 1969, Sesame Workshop started with a single bold question: could television be used to educate kids? With a barrier-breaking cast, deep early-childhood education expertise and the unforgettable Muppets of Sesame Street, the founders set out to do just that, and Sesame Street has been asking the big questions and reaching inspiring milestones ever since. With guiding principles closely linked to the LEGO Group's own agenda of learning through play, we are proud to present our newest LEGO® Ideas model, a tribute to a groundbreaking tv series.

Come and Play!

The Sesame Workshop

Sesame Workshop is a nonprofit educational organization reaching 150 million children in countries around the world using all forms of media; television, radio, digital and mobile, and community outreach. Using the power of the engaging Muppets, Sesame Workshop's educational programs reach little learners during the most important time in their development, when they can have the greatest impact. Beyond ABCs and 123s, Sesame Workshop's programs deliver crucial lessons about health, emotional well-being, and mutual respect and understanding, helping children to grow up healthy and happy.

As part of their many development initiatives and projects, they have joined forces with BRAC, the largest international NGO in the world on the 'Play to Learn' project. Play is a key part of childhood, and yet many children affected by war and displacement have very limited play opportunities. The project aims to provide playful learning opportunities to children affected by these situations.

Meet Fan Designer Ivan Guerrero

38-year-old Ivan is a commercial film maker from the Philippines. “I literally fell off my chair when the LEGO® Ideas team told me Sesame Street was being made into a set. I never thought I’d actually see my idea on a store shelf someday. I ‘grew up on’ Sesame Street and the show was one of my first teachers. It taught me how to read, write, count and laugh, so I was very happy that it was going to be on shelves as a set someday.”

“When designing the set, I had to use my own imagination for some parts, as I had only seen it on television. I researched old New York apartment blocks from the 1960s and 1970s and attempted to treat 123 Sesame Street as a building from the same era.”

“Another unique part of the set is the characters...the Sesame Street minifigures are awesome! I’m so glad the designers decided to make LEGO Ideas history by creating new molds. It allowed them to capture each character’s likeness perfectly. No doubt you can really tell that the team behind this set are fans of the show. They packed in so many details that classic Sesame Street fans will love.”

Meet the LEGO® Designers

Ollie Gregory. “Jim Henson is a role-model of mine, and the ethos of Sesame Street is an inspiration, so the opportunity to work with some of their most beloved and treasured monsters was a real honor. We had over 50 years of Sesame Street history to play with, so almost every nook and cranny has a decoration or build that references something from Sesame Street’s past. Ivan already did an incredible job of bringing every aspect of Sesame Street into the LEGO® world, so it was a hard task getting all the details included in the final set. In the same way that the Sesame Street television show taught us something new every day, I hope fans will learn some new and interesting ways to build while having fun.

Crystal Marie Fontan. “I work on a lot of different, great themes, but 123 Sesame Street was the closest to me and my childhood, so it was amazing to find out that I would be working on it! I was a bit of a weird kid growing up, and watching Sesame Street, I felt like I had friends there. I love how humble Sesame Street is...it is very heartfelt, but also educational and funny. The creators of Sesame Street knew just how to get the attention of a child and tackle sensitive issues such as death in a great way. My favorite part of the set is Big Bird, hands down! He is my favorite Sesame Street character and is just the best minifigure I have ever created, if I do say so myself.”
